THE TELEPHONE INJUNCTION.

The jury in the federal court returned a verdict today for the defendant in the case of William Foster against Thad Terrell.

The present term of federal court will likely come to a close tonight. The last important case on the docket will come this afternoon, and it is thought Judge Evans will hold a night session to finish business. Already he has been kept one day longer than usual.

Today the principal case tried was that against Patrolman Thad Terrell, filed by William Foster, colored. Foster wants $10,000 damages for alleged bad treatment at the hands of the policeman. Terrell arrested Foster on Christmas day soon after the riot caused by William Tice, colored, shooting Patrolman James Clark.

In the case of William Dudley against the Illinois Central, a judgment for the defendant was entered. Dudley was a flagman and at Cerulean Springs in August, 1904, was struck in the head by a water tank spout and his skull fractured. He sued for $10,000 damages.

Decided for Defendant.

The case of E. E. Bell against the Imperial Wheel company, of Flint, Mich., for $5,000 damages for breach of contract in a hickory timber deal, was decided in favor of the defendant on peremptory instructions.

The case of Minnie Tice, colored, against Patrolman Aaron Hurley was decided in favor of the defendant. The woman claimed that a bullet from Hurley's revolver struck her husband and caused his death. Tice, the husband, was flagman in the gate tower at Eleventh street and Broadway, who barricaded himself in the tower and shot Patrolman James Clark when he went up to arrest the negro for breach of peace. Citizens and several patrolmen secured arms and shot into the tower. Tice was mortally wounded but made a dying statement that he killed himself.
